Tobacco Growers Hold Election

A large attendance of Co-Ops greeted the officers Saturday here when the county organization elected delegates to the annual meeting to be held in Raleigh, N. C. on the 19th instant. F. W. King, Wilson Hix and Mrs. J. P. Marshall were elected delegates and will go to N. C.

Resolutions endorsing the warehouse force here for another season were passed.

The election of directors for the Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association for the season of 1925-26 begins next Saturday, May 9th, when the Tobacco Cooperatives in Virginia, North and South Carolina cast their ballots for the delegates who are to name the association directors from the twenty-two districts in the three states. The counting of the ballots will begin at noon next Saturday in the courthouses and all ballots must be in the hands of the election committees by noon of that day. The delegates who are elected at this meeting will gather in district meeting within the next few days to nominate the director from their district for the coming season, and members of the association from every county in the tobacco belt are being urged to attend the annual meeting at Raleigh on May 19th to confirm the nomination of directors from the entire crea.

There is keen interest in the election and the annual meeting of the Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association this year and a large attendance is looked for when the members from three states will meet at Raliegh to discuss with the directors and general manager of the association the plans and policies for the coming season.

The tobacco association is already partially putting into effect the policies regarding directing that was recommended by the committee which sit invited to investigate its affairs, and it has been known for sometime that several heads of departments in the association have voluntarily declined re-election. It was pointed out by the investigating committee in connection with its criticism that "the highest percentage of deliveries has been made in the sections where directors are employed on a full time basis". Notwithstanding this fact, the withdrawal of the heads of departments from the association's directing board marks a very definite step in a policy which the directors believe will work for the eventual good of the association.

The tobacco association has announced his attitude with reference to the Fee question, but up to this time, my efforts to ascertain Senator Byrd's position on the Fee system and on other large questions, now to the fore in Virginia have been futile and without results. If Senator Byrd opposed the increase in 1920, does he now favor decreasing the maximum limits or any other modification of our Fee System, and if so, what? Since his paper has (as is its right) given my record on the subject in connection with his in 1920, it seems to me it is now a fair question to ask his position as a candidate for Governor in 1925.

Will the fee officers of Virginia (the big fellows, I mean, the 22% who are annually receiving for their services the munificent sum of $2,084,502, particularly the 77 above the $5,000 mark who in 1922, received $1,137,647.93) in 1925, remember with gratitude my vote in 1920, and reward me with their suffrages; or in full knowledge of my present attitude towards the fee question will they punish me by their active opposition, and whatever their affirmative reason, flock to the standard of Byrd or Moore?

If these fee officers are for what mean the "Brother Clerk", "Brother Treasurer", and Commissioner of Revenue letters flying throughout the State, copies of which were recently published by the News Leader and other papers, calling on their "Brother Clerks" and "Brother Treasurer", et ceters, for their influence and active support in behalf of Harry Flood Byrd?

It will be interesting to watch the development of the campaign along this line during the next three months.

Very sincerely Yours,
G. WALTER MAPP.

Tobacco Co – Ops Boost Business

KEEP THE PRICE UP
Merchants and Tax Lists Prove
Assn. Members Freest From Debt

Since the investigating committee of agricultural leaders of three states has submitted its report on the operations of the Tobacco Growers Co-operative Association, stressing particularly its relations with member growers. More interest on the part of the general public has been shown in the results of co-operative marketing of tobacco.

The following article is based on information gathered by one of the Virginia members of the committee after a careful study of the Growers Association:

There is every reason why business men in the tobacco territory should support co-operative marketing according to the present situation. The first reason is that it has brought more money into the territory, and the second is that it has caused tobacco growers to pay their debts more promptly.

It can be proved beyond question that the Tobacco Growers Co-operative Association has caused more money to be put into circulation in the tobacco belt than would have ben in circulation had there been no Association. Figures taken from the Division of Agricultural Statistics show that from 1913-16 the average annual production of tobacco in Virginia was 135,000,000 lbs., which sold at an average price of 12 cents a pound, or a total average value of $16,075-per year. From 1922-24 the average annual production of tobacco in Virginia was 148,666,000 lbs., which sold at an average price of 22 cents per pound, or for a total average value of $32,933,000.00 per year. There was no co-operative association operating in Virginia from 1913-16. There was a co-operative association operating from 1922-24 which handled nearly half of the tobacco grown in the state for these years. There is no other large crop in Virginia that has sold for double pre-war prices during 1922-24. Is it worth something to business men for farmers to have twice as much money to spend? If so, no business man can afford not to support an organization which helps bring about such a condition.

Enemies of co-operative marketing will argue that increased demand is altogether responsible for the increase in tobacco prices, but figures gotten from the United States Department of Agriculture show that there has been no special increased demand for either Virginia Sun Cured or Dark Fired Tobacco. As a matter of fact both production and consumption of these two types of tobacco have decreased during the past ten years. There has been a great increase in demand for Virginia Flue Cured Tobacco, but production seems to have at least kept up with demand during the last few years and the manufacturers are increasing their reserve stocks. The Brookmire Economic Service in New York in its bulletin of March 6th writes as follows:

TOBACCO PRICES DOUBLE.

"The past three years acreage of tobacco in the United States has averaged 44% greater than in the five year period 1909-13, and the production 34% greater. Consumption has been only 22% higher than in the pre-war period and exports 25% higher. In 1924 exports were unusually large, running 29 per cent larger than the pre-war average. Prices this year equal 198 per cent of the 1909-13 average and the average price for the years 1922-24 is 204 per cent. Stocks of tobacco in manufacturers and dealers hands are heavy."

If these figures are approximately correct, what has caused the increased price for tobacco? Is it not logical to conclude that the fact that tobacco has been merchandised, by co-operative associations instead of being dumped, as in the past, has had something to do with the situation? Co-operative marketing has made the price for both members and non-members during the past three years.

THE CO-OPS PAY BEST.

Enemies of co-operative marketing argue that co-operative marketing is not a good thing for merchants and other business men, because they say that the delay in payments prevents members of the Association from paying their debts. Let us see whether this is really true.

A recent survey made in Dinwiddie County, Virginia, by John R. Abernathy among the merchants shows the following:

Sidney Young, a merchant in Butterworth, Virginia, had 92 outstanding accounts. 88 of these being against non-members, W. Boisseau, DeWitt, Virginia, had 151 outstanding accounts, 150 non-members and one member. R. E. Baxter, Dinwiddie, Virginia, had 14 outstanding accounts, 8 non-members, 6 members. J. W. Adkins & Company, Dinwiddie, Virginia, had 63 outstanding accounts, 50 non-members, 13 members. "At least 50 per cent of the tobacco growers in Dinwiddie County belong to the Tobacco Growers Association.

ASK THE MERCHANTS. But let us go further and see if the same condition applies in other sections. John Cawthorne, a merchant of Zebulon, North Carolina states:

"I am in business that deals directly with farmers and during a year I will ordinarily get from 600 to 800 small accounts on my books. The record of my 1923 business of unpaid accounts up to November 13, 1924 shows that I had 36 delinquent accounts, 71 of the 36 were non-members of the Tobacco Association, 24 were members and 12 out of the 24 were contract breakers."

Share Mercantile Company in Stokes County, has on its books $4400.00. Only $1460.00 of this is owed by members of the Tobacco Growers Association. One of the leading doctors in King, North Carolina has $7200.00 on his books, only $2000.00 of this is owed by Co-ops. Either of these men will trade their non-member accounts for Co-Op accounts.

HELPS NORTH CAROLINA.

But let us go further. Fifty per cent of the farmers in Surry County, North Carolina are members of the Association. In this county there are 200 farms advertised for sale by the sheriff for taxes. One hundred eighty-four of the 200 are owned by non-members and 16 by members of the Co-operative Association. Of the 16 members whose property is being advertised for sale by the sheriff, 11 are known to be contract breakers. Of the remaining 5 owners, three were insolvent before the crop reduction cooperative marketing was organized. Five hundred thousand dollars has been loaned to Surry County farmers by Federal Land Banks. Four-fifths of the borrowers from this bank are non-members and one-fifth members of the Co-operative Association. The one-fifth that are members have borrowed only one-eighth of the total amount or $62,500.00.

From these figures it can be seen that the co-operative system encourages farmers to pay their debts rather than prevent. ing them from paying their debts. The new system of payments at intervals during the year, does not allow the farmers much surplus at any one time and discourages spending money for luxuries, and wasting it on non-essentials. Since co-operative marketing of tobacco causes more money to be put into circulation in the tobacco belt, and encourages farmers to pay their debts promptly, is there any reason why business men should not support it?

S. D. FRISSEL.

Mr. Claude Wood is in the county looking after his Legislative fight. It is said candidate White will visit the county again in the interest of his campaign for the same office. These young lawyers of the Buckingham bar are waging a hot fight for representative from Appomattox and Buckingham counties.

DON'T GET UP NIGHTS

John Lonnstein, Barber, Ohio, says "Nuxated Iron has done me more good than any medicine I ever took in my life. I was all run down, had no appetite, constantly tired, and suffered from Backache (Kidney Formation). Had to get up 3 to 4 times every night. Nuxated Iron (NUXATED IRON) soon gave me splendid appetite, Nuxated Iron gave me splendid appetite, Nuxated Iron made me sleep soundly through the night, relieved my backache entirely, and increased my strength and endurance tremendously." Nuxated Iron (NUXATED IRON) is not a patent medicine, but is the latest scientific discovery of a famous German physician. Ask your druggist for a dose or two of Nuxated Iron (NUXATED IRON).
